

The FLIGHT LAB

What is the "FLIGHT Lab?"

The flight lab is an makerspace for students, faculty and community members to explore personal ideas or solve community challenges!

Why did we create the lab?

Because we feel the best way to empower you, is by placing your exploration in your own hands, doing something you personally connect with.

Is a lab really necessary?

YES! Creating a space specifically for design thinking and ideation is essential to development of strong sustainable innovation.

Why do we care?

As Flight crew members we have a personal investment in this ecosystem, some of us were born here, others fostered into it. The uplift of exploration is vital to the longevity of our community.

Where do you fit in?

Whether a partner or a member you can make use of the space to expand on and seek resources for new and existing ideas.

Bring your ideas and lets collaborate!
